

SED Journal of Environmental Studies

SED Journal of Environmental Studies

A Multidisciplinary Journal of Environmental Development, Law & Sciences.

SED Journal of Environmental Studies is an International Peer-reviewed printed Journal. It aims to improvise the interdisciplinary engagement to understand and communicate the environmental issues. It seeks to publish research papers and articles on the environmental issues and the results and outcome from such papers will definitely help to improve the Environmental condition in the world.

The SED Journal of Environmental Studies is publishing original research articles, critical reviews, highlights, and perspectives of high quality, which should be related to Environmental issues. Although Environmental Research is opened to all subjects directly related with this field, areas of special interest include:

- a. Environmental Development
- b. Environmental Economics
- c. Environmental Engineering & Waste Management
- d. Environmental Health and Toxicology
- e. Environmental Law
- f. Environmental Science
- g. Global Warming/Climate Change.